

RESULTS
REACHED
BY
REAL-ESTATE MEN WHO
ADVERTISE IN THE WORLD
DAILY OR SUNDAY.
3 LINES $2.01

WEATHER
INDICATOR
FAIR.

PRICE ONE CENT.

BREAKS
All Records

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.

MISS POLLARD'S SIDE.

Presented by Her Lawyer to the Jury at Washington.

Col. Breckinridge and His Counsel Sit Calmly By.

All Eyes on the Fair Plaintiff in the Great $50,000 Suit.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 3.—One of the first persons to enter the Circuit Court room this morning was Miss Madeline Pollard, the plaintiff in the $50,000 breach of promise suit against Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge.

This was the first sight of the plaintiff vouchsafed to the scandal lovers who crowded the court, and for a quarter of an hour before the trial began she was the target of all eyes and the subject of many curious comments. Miss Pollard is an attractive woman, apparently about thirty years. Her slender, somewhat girlish figure was covered by a long black ulster. Her face is nearly colorless. She has a small, piquant mouth, upturned nose, flashing black eyes and heavy dark brown hair. She wore a small black bonnet this morning. Two ladies accompanied her and sat beside her at the table with her counsel directly in front of the judge. One of them, an elderly lady, dressed in black, was one of the sisters of the Breckinridge family, and the other, who sat beside the plaintiff, was a well-dressed lady of middle-age, who figured as a friend of Miss Pollard, but whose identity every one vainly endeavored to discover. Miss Pollard seemed quite at her ease, her face was covered with a thin veil, which in no way concealed her features. She talked with her lawyers most of the time prior to the opening of court. Col. Breckinridge was late in putting on his appearance. Finally he came in a small satchel of documents on his arm. He was fresh and smiling, and was accompanied by his son, Lesna

Frederick, a stalwart young man with black hair and beard. The number of lawyers made it necessary to have two rows of tables, the front line devoted to the Pollard forces, the second row occupied by the Breckinridge party, so that the white-haired defendant sat almost directly back of his young antagonist. The trial was really commenced when Col. Breckinridge, facing the jury, leaning lazily against a table, and in deliberate conversational tones, outlined the matters which the plaintiff would endeavor to prove. He contrasted the positions of the two parties, one a man of family, of political prominence, high in the councils of the Presbyterian Church, famous throughout the country as an orator and the other a friendly young woman, something was said about the legal aspects of the case. Then he began to read the declaration which was published in full in the trial paper. It was the declaration of Miss Pollard's youth when she was a student at the Wesleyan Female Seminary, and then further alleging that she was the father of her three children, that he had, in the presence of credible witnesses, promised to marry her, but that he had married instead a Mrs. Louise Wing, of Louisville, that Miss Pollard had endeavored to leave him and make a career for herself, but had been overpersuaded because of her love for him.

During the reading Miss Pollard flushed crimson. She trembled violently and buried her face in a handkerchief. Col. Breckinridge chatted in a matter-of-fact way with his lawyers.

Next Mr. Christie read the defendant's answer denying all the material allegations, asserting that Miss Pollard had married him on a train, introducing herself as Madeline Breckinridge-Pollard, the middle name because of his admiration for John C. Breckinridge, and that she had afterwards written him to come and see her in the seminary, because she was in trouble.

Next Mr. Christie should have proven in the case, Mr. Christie spoke of Miss Pollard as the daughter of a senator, and as a woman of noble birth, and that she had afterwards written him to come and see her in the seminary, because she was in trouble.

Afterwards, when Miss Pollard was in trouble, because Rhodes was pressing her to marry him, she called on him, a letter which was answered in person. Col. Breckinridge said that could not talk freely at the school, and suggested that they should feel relationship, so that they could talk together, a suggestion which Miss Pollard said was not necessary, as she could obtain permission from her father to do so.

Then began the plaintiff's ruin. From that hour began a secret life between the two. The articles resorted to were touched upon by the lawyer until he came down to the death of Col. Breckinridge's wife, when, said Mr. Christie, the defendant promised to marry the young woman he had wronged, to take the only step which he could take to blot out the sin and shame in the eyes of the world, and a step which he alone could take.

He had introduced her as his promised wife into the first families of the city. Under the law of the district there could be no claim for damages on account of such action, but the remedy, or rather what reputation could be made for a broken promise of marriage, the law guaranteed. Mr. Christie, in conclusion, asked only that the jury be not misled by the truth by the flashes of eloquence which would come from the other side.

PETER JACKSON MEASURED.

By No Means as Big a Man as His Manager Claimed.

Remarkable in the Development of the Left Arm and Leg.

Peter Jackson was examined and measured by Dr. John Watson, chief of his office, at 1096 Broadway, this morning. Dr. Gibbs found Jackson to be in good physical condition with the exception of a slight cough, due to an attack of the grip.

His weight was 20 pounds stripped; height, 6 feet 1.2 inches in his bare feet; neck, 13.4 inches; chest, 33 inches; chest expanded, 41.2 inches; right biceps, 12.1 inches; left biceps, 13 inches; right forearm, 11 inches; left forearm, 11.2 inches; right thigh, 21.2 inches; left thigh, 22 inches; waist, 32 inches; abdomen, 33.1 inches; right calf, 11.2 inches; left calf, 12 inches; length of right arm, 31 inches; left arm, 32.3 inches; width of shoulders, 18 inches; left wrist, 7 inches; right wrist, 6.7 inches.

Dr. Gibbs called attention to the fact that Jackson's measurements, with one exception, are larger on the left than on the right side of his body, which, the doctor regards as remarkable. The exception referred to is in the reach of the right arm, Jackson's right arm being longer than his left.

Jackson told the doctor that the nose, which he regarded as his greatest feature, had stopped entirely. His remarks about the colored pugilist, and thinks he will win soon.

Found Him in the Cellar.

William Slicker, of Flatlands, was arrested early this morning by Special Policeman O'Connor on complaint of Dr. J. B. Robinson, of 129 Montague street, Brooklyn, charged with burglary. A servant in the doctor's employ went to the cellar at 7 o'clock this morning to get some coal, and found the prisoner crouching in a corner. Slicker declares that he doesn't know how he got into the premises.

ONE VICTIM IS DEAD.

Crispi's Cold Saved Others from the Bomb in Rome.

Chamber Adjourned Early Because of the Premier's Illness.

No Doubt that the Outrage Was the Work of Anarchists.

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, March 3.—One of the men taken to the hospital after being found wounded on the Piazza di Monte Clitorio yesterday after the explosion of the bomb in front of the Chamber of Deputies died this morning.

Two other sufferers from the explosion, who are now in the hospital, are much worse today. One of the patients had his leg amputated this morning.

The police no longer have any doubt that the bomb, which was hidden in a high hat, was intended to be exploded in the Chamber of Deputies, and the conspirators might have succeeded in attaining their object had it not been that the Chamber adjourned earlier than usual, owing to the fact that Premier Crispien was suffering from a cold, and was therefore unable to answer the many questions notice of which had been given to the Government.

The authorities express the belief that the bomb carrier, seeing that the last of the Deputies were leaving the Chamber, judged that it would be useless to enter that building, and so exploded the deadly missile on the Piazza di Monte Clitorio.

The police also claim that there is no doubt that the explosion was the work of Anarchists who had been roused to action by the fact that the Deputies yesterday devoted considerable time to discussing the question of prosecuting the chief of the great Socialist Labor Society, Deputy Felice Gauria, of Catania, who is said to have had a great deal to do with the recent agitation in Sicily.

LYNN, March 3.—A despatch to The Chronicle from Rome says that the bomb exploded yesterday in the Piazza di Monte Clitorio, was composed of nitroglycerine and gunpowder.

GLADSTONE MUCH BETTER.

Grand Old Man on the Road to Complete Recovery.

LONDON, March 3.—The health of Mr. Gladstone has greatly improved, and he is now pronounced to be on the high road to complete recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone have received a number of letters from the queen, both the missives being couched in language showing high appreciation of the services rendered to the country by Mr. Gladstone. The letter addressed by the queen to Mrs. Gladstone is full of interesting reminiscences.

MINISTRY MAY RESIGN.

Netherlands Chamber Amends Government Reform Bill.

THE HAGUE, March 3.—The Netherlands Ministry is expected to resign, as the Chamber has adopted an amendment to the principal clause of the Government Reform bill.

In consequence of the adoption of this amendment, Premier Dr. G. Van Veenhoven has withdrawn the bill and is conferring with the Ministers.

"IF CHRIST CAME TO CHICAGO."

Advance Sheets of Mr. Stead's Much-Disputed New Book Secured by The Sunday World.

The Sunday World has secured exclusively the advance sheets of Editor Stead's new book exposing the political, religious, public corruption, vicious rackets and disreputable millionaires of Chicago. The most striking portions of the great London editor and reformer's revelations of what he says and studies with his own eyes will be published in full in The Sunday World.

Among the topics treated in the book are chapters on "In-Honored Street Boy," "Wholesale and Retail," "The City of Prairie Avenue," "Who Are the Disreputable Millionaires of the Kingdom Disgraced?" "The Nineteenth Century," "The Tax-Collector," "Smuggling and Party Finance," "Christ's Church in Chicago," etc.

The frontispiece of the book is a reproduction of the famous painting "Christ Preaching to the Multitude," from the Temple, and the faces of the money-changers reflect the features of Chicago's leading millionaires and politicians. This picture, with other illustrations from Mr. Stead's book, will be reproduced in The Sunday World.

You Can
advise any friend of yours that is afflicted with any of the above ailments, call upon C. E.
Pineau, 21 West 11th St.

THE
WORLD
ALMANAC
IS A POCKET
ENCYCLOPEDIA
25 Cts.

BRIDGET DUTLEY ENDS HER LIFE WITH PARIS GREEN.

Bridget Dutley, fifty years old, of 7 Booster street, Brooklyn, committed suicide at 7 o'clock this morning.

She killed herself by taking Paris green.

Beat His Cousin.

Lewis Blumwald, of 21 South 12th street, was killed in the East Avenue car, Wednesday day on a charge of beating his cousin, Mrs.
Harris, at 21 South 12th street.

Case coming up by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It will cure you at once.

THE STRIKING DRIVER'S MISTAKE.

He didn't take the proper attitude before Commissioner Andrews.

HER LIFE'S DRAMA NOW ENDED

Carrie Lahr Kills Herself Because She Was Jilted.

Saw Her "Best Young Man" Walking with Another Girl.

Because her "best young man" was paying attention to another girl, Carrie Lahr, eighteen years old, committed suicide at 7 o'clock this morning by swallowing the contents of a three-ounce bottle of carbolic acid.

Carrie was handsome, and had dark eyes and wavy brown hair. She lived with her married sister, Mrs. Ada Strei-del, at 178 Central avenue, Williamsburg.
The girl was light-hearted and gay and had many admirers, but the one who found most favor in her eyes was Marlin Curran, of Cedar street. Curran was very devoted to the girl until one day a week ago. Then he suddenly stopped going to see her, and a day or two later Carrie saw him walking with another young woman.

Since that day her brother-in-law says Carrie has been moody and depressed.
Nothing was thought of her manner, however, and this morning she got up and prepared her breakfast at 6 o'clock, as usual.

An hour later, when Mrs. Streidel arose, she did not find Carrie in the room, and she called out to her, but the girl in her own room. Carrie was sitting on her cot. When she saw her brother-in-law, she called out to him, and he found her in a state of collapse.
A doctor was hastily summoned, but Carrie was dead in a few minutes.

Stridell, the brother-in-law, learned that the police had found a bottle of carbolic acid, and that the girl had swallowed it. He immediately called the police and they found the girl in the room.

"IF CHRIST CAME TO CHICAGO."

Advance Sheets of Mr. Stead's
Much-Disputed New Book Secured by The Sunday World.

The Sunday World has secured exclusively the advance sheets of Editor Stead's new book exposing the political, religious, public corruption, vicious rackets and disreputable millionaires of Chicago. The most striking portions of the great London editor and reformer's revelations of what he says and studies with his own eyes will be published in full in The Sunday World.

Among the topics treated in the book are chapters on "In-Honored Street Boy," "Wholesale and Retail," "The City of Prairie Avenue," "Who Are the Disreputable Millionaires of the Kingdom Disgraced?" "The Nineteenth Century," "The Tax-Collector," "Smuggling and Party Finance," "Christ's Church in Chicago," etc.

The frontispiece of the book is a reproduction of the famous painting "Christ Preaching to the Multitude," from the Temple, and the faces of the money-changers reflect the features of Chicago's leading millionaires and politicians. This picture, with other illustrations from Mr. Stead's book, will be reproduced in The Sunday World.

You Can
advise any friend of yours that is afflicted with any of the above ailments, call upon C. E.
Pineau, 21 West 11th St.

THE
WORLD
ALMANAC
IS A POCKET
ENCYCLOPEDIA
25 Cts.

JUMPED TO HER DEATH.

Unknown Woman Plunges into the Genesee River at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 3.—An unknown woman committed suicide shortly after 11 o'clock last night by jumping from a driving Park avenue bridge two hundred feet into the Genesee River below.

She was dressed in a dark gown, was heavily veiled and wore a bouquet. William O'Brien and a companion witnessed the suicide.

SUICIDE OF A WOMAN.

Bridget Dutley Ends Her Life with Paris Green.

Bridget Dutley, fifty years old, of 7
Booster street, Brooklyn, committed suicide
at 7 o'clock this morning.

She killed herself by taking Paris
green.

Beat His Cousin.

Lewis Blumwald, of 21 South 12th street, was killed in the East Avenue car, Wednesday
day on a charge of beating his cousin, Mrs.
Harris, at 21 South 12th street.

Case coming up by using Dr. Bull's Cough
Syrup. It will cure you at once.

WILTSHAW'S BIG BAIL

He Reached
Here This Morning.

Harry C. Wiltshaw, who was arrested in Buffalo on Saturday, charged with stealing $50,000 from the United States National Bank, 41 Wall street, was arranged before United States Commissioner Shields this morning and committed to Ludlow street jail in default of $20,000 bail.

Wiltshaw was individual bookkeeper of the bank, and for eight years was considered a clerk. For three years, he is alleged, he stole from the bank, losing the money in speculation in Wall street.
In November, 1901, a discrepancy in his accounts was discovered by the officers of the bank. Wiltshaw in explanation and he had got his accounts hopelessly mixed, but would begin next day to straighten them out.

He did not return. He is an Englishman without relatives in the United States, and after some months' search for him the bank was abandoned. It was not until five months after he disappeared that the bank officials made public the fact that he had stolen $50,000.

A customer of the bank, who had dealings with Wiltshaw, was in a billiard room in Saratoga two weeks ago and saw Wiltshaw playing billiards. Wilt-shaw quickly left the place. When the customer returned to New York he refused the bank's officials and Pinkerton detectives sent to Saratoga.

They had no difficulty in finding Wilt-shaw, and kept close watch of him while his case was hurried along in the United States Court. A judgment was brought in Saturday, and soon after the detention in Saratoga was terminated. United States Marshal Jacobus that Wiltshaw was preparing to leave Saratoga for Battlesburg.

Marshall Jacobus, at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, telegraphed to the United States Marshal at Buffalo, that Wiltshaw would likely arrive on the 7.30 train, on the Delaware and Lackawanna Western Railroad. When Wiltshaw stepped from the train, Deputy Marshal Watkins, of Buffalo, was waiting to receive him. He was wearing a dark suit, recognizable Wiltshaw from the description furnished him, a detective, who had been in Saratoga, followed him. He pointed out that he was well known in Battlesburg as Harry C. Watkins, and that under that name he had used a year ago been a member of the bank's poolroom. It was not until Monday when his bank case was reached and a civil detainer name of Harry C. Wiltshaw found that he would admit he was the man wanted.
He was brought here, arriving at 5 o'clock this morning.

An hour later Wiltshaw, who had been turned over to the custody of Marshal Jacobus, was taken before Commissioner Shields.

Wiltshaw is insignificant looking, only 5 feet 5 inches tall, and weighs 125 pounds. He is a blonde with a slight blonde moustache, and was neatly attired in a dark suit and silk hat. He says he is twenty-four years old, but he looks younger.

Commissioner Shields asked Wiltshaw if he had come to New York for the first time. He was then asked if he had any friends, and said he had a substantial father, Attorney North, who had been fixed at $20,000, which was done, and Wiltshaw was committed to Ludlow street jail. He will be arraigned tomorrow in the United States Circuit Court on Wednesday.

Now a Guest of His Father-in-Law at Millburn.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Whitelaw Reid arrived here last evening, and is now the guest of his father-in-law, D.
A. Stille, at the latter's residence at Milburn.

Mr. Reid has recently been afflicted with an asthmatic affection, and has come to the coast to regain health.

STEAMER BRISCOE DISABLED.

A British Freighter Sighted in Distress Off Cape Race.

News was anxiously awaited today by the consulates in this city of the disabled British steamer Briscoe, which sailed from Queenstown on Jan. 30. She was sighted off Cape Race by a vessel arriving at St. Johns, N. E., yesterday, and the news was at once cabled to the Maritime Exchange, who immediately notified French, Edge & Co., the New York agents.

The news was very meagre. It merely stated that the ship had been sighted in, that her coal had given out, and that the steamer was being towed to keep up steam.

It is estimated that the steamer had been carried away and that the captain had been obliged to take recourse to the only alternative—that of burning the woodwork to save his vessel from being at the absolute mercy of the wind and waves or becoming a total wreck. While steam can be kept up the vessel is comparatively safe.

The Briscoe is registered among the first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was considered as one of the staunchest freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked by a series of mishaps such as seldom behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30, and after a voyage of four days, she was sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

A few days later she entered Queenstown in distress. In the storm she was washed almost clean, and her hold was filled with tons of water. The necessary repairs were made.

She was put in good shape in remarkably quick time, as all her cargo had to be landed. She left for New York on Jan. 30, and was sighted off Kinsal on Jan. 31. She was not reported again until she was sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a state of distress. Thus she had been on a voyage of four days without having sustained any damage.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad.
Her voyage, however, has been marked
by a series of mishaps such as seldom
behave. She left Queenstown on Jan. 30,
and after a voyage of four days, she was
sighted off Cape Race yesterday in a
state of distress.

The vessel is registered among the
first-class vessels in Lloyd's, and she was
considered as one of the staunchest
freight steamers of her tonnage abroad